Reforming Multilateral Development banks and Climate finance and Green Development

Reforming and strengthening multilateral development banks (MDBs) to reflect the changed geopolitical conditions and the rise of the Global South remains a key part of India's agenda during its G20 presidency. A Discussion and Listening activity were conducted on 28th November'2023 for classes X to XII where an informative video on Reforming Multilateral Development banks and Climate finance and Green Development followed by a Test. All the students participated in this activity. They found it very informative and interesting as they got to know about the importance of Multilateral Development Banks (MDBs).
